U. S. Task Force Guards Evacuations; Dulles to Seek Approval of Treaty

LANDING SHIPS LEAVE KEELUNG — U. S. sailor stands under 40-MM gun looking out toward sea as two World War 2 landing ships in background, part of the Chinese Nationalist navy, leave Keelung, Formosa, Sunday to assist in the evacuation of the Tachen Islands. Secretary Has Talks In Senate Closed Session Is Held at Capital

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP) — A weekend go-ahead on U. S. plans to aid in evacuating the Tachen Islands posed new questions for Secretary of State Dulles today as he prepared to ask Senate committee approval of a mutual defense treaty with Nationalist China.

The Nationalists announced the evacuation began last night. Orders sending the powerful U. S. 7th Fleet within range of Communist guns for the Tachen evacuation were issued Saturday amid expressed hopes for peace and a navy warning that any Red attack "will be considered as interference with the mission of the fleet."

Chiang Says He'll Attack

Taipei, Feb. 7 (AP)—Chinese Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek said today the evacuation and redeployment of his Tachen Island troops were "positive preparations for the counterattack (against the Red mainland) and not a negative stand."

Chiang, in a written statement said evacuation was a "painful decision," but the latest military developments had made the Tachens lose their military value.

Chiang's pronouncement was the first he has made on the offshore island crisis since the Reds invaded Yikiangshan Jan. 18. He expressed gratitude for "the broad assistance and protective cover in the execution of our evacuation plan so generously rendered us by the United States government."

Tides Spell Difficulty For Task Total of 41,688 Awaits Evacuation

(By The Associated Press)

The Chinese Nationalist evacuation of the Tachens and other islands just off Red China's doorstep involves removal of an estimated total of 41,688 people—troops, guerrillas and civilians.

The difficulty of the operation, protected and aided by the U. S. 7th Fleet, is illustrated by the Tachens, where tides running 16 to 18 feet on the rocky beaches are expected to cut loading time to six hours daily.

Marines Go Ashore for Patrol Job No Interference By Reds Reported

Taipei, Formosa, Feb. 7 (AP)—A formidable U. S. Navy task force stood protectively around the Communist-threatened Tachens today covering the evacuation of some 30,000 Chinese Nationalist troops and civilians—while two Red torpedo boats cruised 17 miles away.

A patrol party of U. S. Marines went ashore.

The evacuation was well underway tonight. Reports from the American ships were hours behind those reaching this Nationalist capital, but they indicated there was no Communist interference.

Student Victim Of Brutal Murder

ANNE YARROW

Central Force Plans Talk In Kingston

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Police today identified Ernest Jackson, a classmate, as a boy friend from whom brutally slain Anne Yarrow, college graduate student, had been hiding for several weeks.

The 23-year-old New York University coed was found yesterday choked and viciously stabbed to death in a dingy tenement flat in downtown Manhattan.

Chief of Detectives Thomas A. Nielson named Jackson, who was questioned along with his wife yesterday and released and said the man faced further questioning today in the murder investigation.

A friend of the slain girl told police Miss Yarrow had been living in her apartment because she wanted to be alone following a split-up with a boy friend.

The friend, Herta Payson, found Miss Yarrow's body when she got home from a 10-day trip to South Carolina.

The slaying was termed "one of the most brutal murders I've ever seen" by Police Capt. William Schnabel.

When Miss Payson arrived yesterday at her frugal sixth-floor lodgings (60 E. 4th St.) she found the front door almost ripped down from its hinges and the latch smashed.

Her friend's mutilated body was sprawled on a mattress on the floor, clad only in a sweater. The girl had been stabbed at least 40 times.

No weapon was found. Dr. Milton Helsen, chief medical examiner said there had been some kind of sexual assault on the attractive dark-haired woman.

A neighbor told police of hearing screams about midnight, and another said the phone had been ringing in the Payson apartment around 3 a. m.

POLICE FIGURED this ring must have been a return call from Miss Yarrow's father, whom she had tried unsuccessfully to reach earlier in the evening. The father, Don Yarrow, said he had been in the Payson apartment around 3 a. m. (Continued on Page 15, Col. 4)

4 Persons Injured in Accidents Troopers Report Crashes Numerous

At least four persons were injured Sunday afternoon and this morning in highway accidents on hazardous roads in the area.

Temperatures hovering around the freezing mark this morning followed yesterday's rain left slippery spots on many highways.

Accident reports filed with state police were so numerous that troopers were hard pressed to complete written reports. At the Highland station, six separate accidents were reported between 6 and 8:30 a. m. today.

Two of the accidents had personal injuries. Highland troopers said, but they were unable to obtain the identities of those injured due to the fact that they were called to other accidents.

TROOPERS at the Kingston station likewise were kept busy with accident calls this morning. Ellenville station reported two or three minor accidents without (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Manhole Blast Cause Uncertain

An explosion in a sidewalk manhole, the origin of which was still undetermined today, cracked a plate glass window in Ketterer's Bakery, 584 Broadway, and caused some concern in the neighborhood Sunday afternoon.

The manhole, installed by Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., houses electric wiring. It was first thought that the explosion might have been caused by a gas leak, but a spokesman for Central Hudson said that had not been determined this morning.

Firemen were notified of the mishap at 4:36 p. m., and the police arrived at 4:45 p. m. (Continued on Page 15, Col. 5)

Man Arrested in Slaying Of Woman Bank Employee

Los Angeles, Feb. 7 (AP)—A lengthy and intensive investigation in the slaying of a young woman bank employee has ended with the arrest of a father of three children, who claims the victim tried to make a slave out of his wife.

Frank Joseph Meloche, 34, a time-study technician, was arrested Saturday night, and booked on suspicion of murder in the death of 24-year-old Alexandra Roos. Her body was found in the Santa Monica mountains two weeks ago, 16 days after she had disappeared.

Sheriff's detectives said Meloche admitted throttling Miss Roos. Sheriff's Lt. Al W. Etzel and Sgt. Ray T. Hopkinson said Meloche told them:

"She (Miss Roos) didn't like me. She kept pestering my wife to take our children and come and live with her. She was making a slave out of my wife. I decided to tell her to stay away from me. Meloche also admitted that he owed Miss Roos $5,000.

Saturday night Meloche led sheriff's deputies to the spot in the nearby Santa Monica mountains where Miss Roos' body had been found by persons looking over property in the area. The detectives said Meloche told of meeting Miss Roos the night of Jan. 7 as she alighted from a streetcar at a Los Angeles intersection. He said there was an argument in his car over her treatment of his wife, Mrs. Anita Meloche, 31.

The detectives further quoted Meloche as saying that Miss Roos became angry with him and slapped him. "I'm not used to being slapped," the officer (Continued on Page 15, Col. 5)

Egypt Will Quit Arab Pact Group Withdrawal Due When Iraq Signs

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 7 (AP)—Guidance Minister Maj. Salah Salem said today Egypt will withdraw from the Arab Security Pact the day Iraq signs a mutual defense treaty with Turkey.

But, he added, Egypt will simultaneously sign a another military pact with all other Arab states which would undertake not to commit the signers to Turkish or any other foreign alliance.

SALEM MADE the statement at a news conference for Lebanese journalists, now visiting Egypt. Leaders of eight Arab states wound up last night a heated 16-day defense conference—called by Egypt to block the Iraqi-Turkey treaty—without agreeing on a final communiqué. Egypt thus lost the fight to unite Arab states behind a neutralist policy.

Salem said the Arab world is now at a crossroads but declared the crisis is not an Iraqi-Egyptian contest for Arab leadership as some have described it. It is, he said, a debate to agree on unified Arab policy on Middle East defense.

WHILE IRAQI advocates formation of regional pacts with foreign countries, Egypt's policy is to strengthen the Arab Security Pact as a power capable of defending the Middle East without losing Arab sovereignty through links with foreign powers, said.

"But we failed to learn the viewpoints of other Arab states," he added. "We did not learn whether other states were backing Iraq or Egypt and that is why we failed to announce any statement after the conference."

There were indications other Arab states in addition of Iraq were inclined eventually to join up with Turkey, and indirectly with the western powers, because of their growing fear of possible Soviet aggression.

EVEN SOME EGYPTIAN officials admitted privately the meeting had been a sharp defeat for Egypt and a blow at her leadership of the league.

It was a victory for Iraq's tough little anti-Communist premier, Nuri said, whose Chamber of Deputies gave him a unanimous vote of confidence in Baghdad last night after he said emphatically he would complete the defense treaty with Turkey in spite of Egypt.

Nuri had refused to come to the Cairo meetings, saying he was ill. He bluntly told the conference delegation which flew to Baghdad that Iraq, as a neighbor of Russia, must ally herself with Turkey because the Arab states were too weak to defend themselves alone.

WOMAN LOSES ARM

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—A woman lost her right arm today when she was tossed out of a car in a collision and run over by a bus. Police said Miss Shirley Nathan, 52, was being driven to work by her nephew when the car and bus collided in Staten Island. She was hurled to the street, and a bus wheel rolled over her arm.

Port Jervis Pilot Tells Of Conflict Salmon Says Mig No Equal For F86

Tokyo, Feb. 7 (AP)—Two American jet fighter pilots who shot down a pair of cannon-firing Russian-built Mig 15s over the Yellow Sea reaffirmed today what the world knew for a long time—that Sabrejets are far superior.

"The Migs will never compare with F86 Sabrejet," said Lt. Charles E. Salmon, 25, 13 Cole St., Port Jervis, N. Y.

Capt. George F. Williams Jr., 31, 3309 Cherry Lane, Austin, Tex., agreed.

Both pilots told a press conference of a dramatic five-minute battle with eight Migs who jumped their patrol of 12 Sabrejets and an RB45 reconnaissance plane Saturday.

The fight erupted 10 miles off the North Korean coast and 40 miles southwest of Pyongyang, capital of Communist North Korea.

Both said there was absolutely no damage to any of the American planes and they saw no markings on the attacking Red planes to identify them as Chinese Communist, North Korean or Russian.

Williams said they had flown about 40 miles up the North Korean coast from their base at Osan and had turned south when the fight began.

"There was no warning," he said. "They came from above and behind us," and started firing.

SALMON TOOK UP the story: "I saw their tracers streaking past our plane, like red balls."

"They were firing from too far away. They dove past my flight and attacked the (reconnaissance) bomber. I rolled over on my back, slipped down to the left and rolled out on the tail (Continued on Page 15, Col. 2)

Flier Says He Is Lucky To Be Alive

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 7 (AP)—A jet pilot says he hung helplessly in his parachute more than half an hour while eerie winds kept him aloft.

"I'm lucky to be alive," said Col. W. O. Deane yesterday—his 35th birthday.

Strange air currents kept Deane aloft 35 minutes Saturday night after he bailed out, he said. He added it was a harrowing experience to hang suspended in pitch blackness that long.

Returning to Randolph Air Force Base from Luke AFB, Ariz., Deane's T33 jet trainer ran low on fuel. He ejected himself into the night, and the plane crashed some 20 miles north of here.

DEANE SAID that after his chute popped open unusually strong vertical updrafts either held him in check or forced him upward. He bailed out at 7,000 feet—more than a mile high. Whether he was carried higher, or at what level he spent his strange half hour aloft, he could not say. (Continued on Page 15, Col. 2)

GOP Plans to Trim Down Governors Budget, Taxes

Albany, Feb. 7 (AP)—Republican majorities in the Legislature have their pruning knives out to trim Gov. Harriman's $1,345,200,000 budget and his tax demands, it was indicated today.

But the Democratic governor, defending his proposals for $127,600,000 in state tax increases, was already carrying his argument to the people in a bid for public support.

He denied yesterday that residents of New York would be overtaxed and repeated his claim that 99 1/2 per cent of the spending he proposed was a carryover from the administration of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

The budget and taxes—and what to do about them—were the principal item on the agenda for a meeting of GOP legislative leaders last night.

Prior to the session, one Republican spokesman called the governor's budget "pretty high" and said: "It looks to me as though you'd have to cut it."

His remark summed up the trend of Republican comment since Harriman delivered his budget message to the lawmakers last Tuesday. GOP leaders said they were "stunned" by what they called a high spending and high tax policy.

In a New York City television broadcast (Between the Lines, WABD), Harriman said last night that on a per capita basis individuals in 31 other states paid more state taxes than New Yorkers.

Considering the total of state and local taxes in relation to income, the governor went on, New York ranks 30th among the 48 states.

And in relation to income of its people, he said, this state (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

She was taken by ambulance to Kingston Hospital, where her condition was listed as "fair" and her injuries reportedly including a fractured rib on the left side and punctured left lung, state police said.

Boys, 16, Charged With Truck Theft

Two 16-year-old boys, charged with having taken a truck of William O'Reilly, Inc., 611 Broadway, failed to get past state police in their ride on Route 209 Sunday.

John Christopher Vance Weekly, of 158 Washington avenue, and Vincent Schiskey, of 52 Lucas avenue attracted the attention of Kerhonkson State Trooper John Krom, of the Wurtsboro station, who was off duty, at the time, and his observations resulted in their arrest.

RETURNED TO Kingston they were booked by Sgt. Charles Hoching at police headquarters at 5:15 a. m. Sunday on charges of first degree grand larceny.

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today postponed preliminary hearing until tomorrow when they appeared before him today. Weekly was represented by Attorney Louis G. Bruhn. S. James Matthews appeared for the district attorney's office.

The state police report said the truck had broken down in the Kerhonkson area at about 1 a. m. Sunday. Trooper Krom suspected that the boys could not be authorized to be out in a commercial vehicle at that hour.

He notified the Wurtsboro station and Trooper Robert Flynn picked them up for the trip to Kingston.

THE TRUCK, it was learned today, had been taken from the O'Reilly parking lot. It was the only one of several trucks there with a key in the switch, and it was indicated that the two had to drive the truck through a gate, which had been locked. It was also indicated that they had obtained advance information as to conditions in the parking lot before they allegedly climbed over the gate and took the truck.

Building Entered Gasoline Taken From 2 Vehicles

Entrance of another Broadway building and two incidents of gasoline thefts were reported to the police over the weekend.

Management said entrance had been gained by complete removal of a rear door and about $20 in change had been taken from a place where it was usually left "hidden" over night.

William J. Ziros, of 3 Lindsley avenue, reported at 1:10 a. m. today that all gasoline had been siphoned from a sedan left parked at the gas station at Broadway and Delaware avenue, and a report at 1:43 a. m. Sunday, said gasoline had been stolen from a car left parked at 123 Franklin street.

Late Bulletin

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration, in close consultation with Britain and New Zealand, weighed possible new moves today to ease the tense Formosa situation.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles had a long conference at the White House. Afterward, Dulles went to the State Department for meetings with Sir Leslie Kinnear, New Zealand's ambassador and chief United Nations delegate, and Sir Roger Makins, the British ambassador.

There was no official hint as to whether the under consideration. Reports from London, however, said the possibility of some kind of unwritten cease-fire agreement was being explored in diplomatic talks.

The New York Times said the United States would urge the United Nations to send a "peace observation" mission to Formosa and the Pescadores to report any aggressive action in that area.

Flannery, Former State Justice, Dies

Glenham, Feb. 7 (AP)—J. Gordon Flannery, 61, former justice of the state Supreme Court, died last night at his home here.

Justice Flannery had been in a coma for two weeks, and he had been ill for about three years, suffering from what his physician said was glandular cancer. He underwent brain surgery three years ago and never recovered sufficiently to resume his duties on the bench. He received a disability retirement from the court last year.

Flannery, a Republican known throughout the state, served as a Dutchess county judge for 17 years before he was appointed to the Supreme Court in 1947. That same year he was elected to a 14-year term at $28,000 a year.

He was succeeded on the bench by Leonard J. Supple, of Fishkill, a lifelong friend and former law partner.

A NATIVE OF BEACON, Flannery was a son of the late John and Margaret Flannery. He received his law degree from Syracuse University and was admitted to the bar in 1921. He served as justice of the peace in Fishkill, and as U. S. commissioner for the Southern District of New York until he was elected a Dutchess county judge in 1930.

Funeral services will be held at St. Joachim R.C. Church in Beacon at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Becker said the 7th Fleet armada off the China coast was made up of 75 warships.

Navy sources in Washington were more specific. They listed 6 fast carriers—the Midway, Wasp, Kearsarge, Essex, Yorktown and Princeton—2 cruisers, 36 destroyers, 5 submarines and 15 mine sweepers among the combat ships.

THESE DID NOT include the amphibious ships of the U. S. and Chinese Nationalist navies which were assigned the actual evacuation task.

The evacuation of the Tachens loomed as a tough chore, even without Communist opposition.

Beaches there are few and rocky. Tides run from 16 to 18 feet. Sabin said loading time would be cut to only six hours daily.

ranked 43rd in collection of taxes. Harriman said this statistic was based on the percentage of income to the amount of taxes paid to the state.

Harriman contends that all but 6 million dollars of his budget is required to continue programs inaugurated under the Dewey administration.

"I am not putting up a political budget," he declared, "I'm just telling the people where they stand."

The governor said his proposal to increase personal income taxes by 11 per cent would not seriously affect low-income families.

As examples, he said, the increase will mean to a family of four: 60 cent more tax annually on a $4,000 income; $2.60 more on a $5,000 income; $19 more on a $10,000 income and $50 more on a $25,000 income.

Harriman added that he was confident that when the time came Republican leaders would "get down to business" with him in adopting a balanced budget.

Charge Is Dismissed

A fugitive from justice charge against Roscoe P. Simmons of 22 Park street, Ellenville, was ordered dismissed by County Judge John M. Cashion this morning on motion of Simmons' attorney, Philip Slutsky.

Simmons was arrested three weeks ago by Ellenville police on a warrant saying he was wanted by New Mexico authorities on a charge of selling mortgaged property.

The People's State Bank in Artesia, N. M., later asked the charge be dropped after an agreement was reached. At a hearing today, Judge Cashion dismissed the fugitive charge and Simmons was released.

55 Miners Killed in India

New Delhi, India, Feb. 7 (AP)—India's third mine disaster in two months has claimed the lives of 55 coal diggers in Bihar State. The explosion Saturday brought the toll in the three tragedies to 130.

Gas seepage was blamed for the latest accident, in the Amalabad mine, 100 miles northwest of Calcutta. Ten miners died in the same district last Wednesday in a mine collapse and 65 drowned on Dec. 10 when underground waters flooded a mine 100 miles north of Nagpur, in central India.

THE NATIONALISTS also may have to give up Manchian Island, 90 miles south of the Tachens. Hampson reported Monday the Chinese press in Taipei now say Nanchian Island is to be held as a "north-eastern shield for Formosa." He noted however that Nanchian soon could become as indefensible and dangerous to hold as the Tachens. Nanchian has a garrison of 5,000 regular troops and a civilian population of 1,763.

Two island groups which will be defended are the Quemoy Islands off the Red port of Amoy and the Matsu group (including the nearby Paichuan or White Dog Islands) blocking the entrance to the port of Foochow (Minchow).

Quemoy and its small satellite islands lie 120 miles across the Formosa Strait from Formosa. The Matsus are 100 miles northwest of Formosa.

In the 350 miles of offshore waters between the Tachens in the north and Quemoy in the south the Nationalists hold other small islands such as Wuchiu, 72 miles west of Formosa's northern tip.

Cement Industry Faces Production Expansion

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—The prosperous but wary cement industry may have to expand its facilities after all—especially if the super-duper highway program is piled on top of a continuing building boom.

At least the Bureau of Mines thinks so. It believes the industry will have to increase its capacity by 15 per cent within two years, by 40 per cent within five years.

Cement companies are producing and selling three times as much cement now as they did in 1944. But they've expanded their capacity only about 18 per cent in that time, and are now operating at near capacity—although demand for their product increases each year.

THE REASON for their hesitation to expand: They remember being badly burned when they expanded too fast in the twenties and found themselves operating at only 24 per cent of capacity in 1933. Production in 1944 used less than half of the existing capacity.

The industry is now turning out around 270 million barrels a year. About one fifth of that goes into highway construction. But if the President's road building ideas are adopted, highways will swallow up two and a half times as much cement as they do today.

The postwar building boom has been the big reason for cement's prosperity. About one fifth now sold goes into commercial, industrial and institutional construction, about one seventh into home building.

But cement consumption has grown even faster than the physical volume of building, the Northern Trust Co. of Chicago notes today in its February business comment.

IT CITES AS REASONS: Cement's cost advantage for many uses, new applications of cement in building, and improved methods of handling. And then, too, the housing boom in the suburbs has meant a call for cement for new streets, alleys, sewers and water systems.

Cement has found new markets for such uses as oil well cementing to protect well casings, and for mixture with soil to get a low cost pavement where traffic is light.

Pressure and gravity injection of cement to stabilize railway and highway subgrades has taken a lot of cement. One example of such use which got a lot of attention—although the amount of cement used certainly didn't tax the industry's capacity—was in the stabilization of the ground under Pisa's famed tower, to assure that the tower would lean just enough to go on attracting tourists but not enough to result in a problem of removing the toppled ruins.

OTHER LATTER-DAY uses have sprung from the development of lightweight concrete products—through substitution of lighter materials for the traditional mixing elements of sand and crushed stone. Lighter and cheaper roofing slabs and interior walls have resulted. Mixing cement and asbestos has produced new ideas in shingles, siding, roofing and pipe.

The cement industry, however wary it may be of an end of the building boom, has some long-range supporting elements.

Roads have to be repaired, even if the new proposed 101 billion dollar building plan doesn't go through.

Heavier commercial and military aircraft are on the way, and existing airport runways will have to be rebuilt to accommodate them.

The building of dams, power plants, flood control channels would likely be increased if commercial and residential construction fell off.

Each development of a more destructive bomb brings with it a potential future market for shelters and defense installations of all sorts.

That's why the industry thinks its sales should stay high.

LIGHT ART—Artist Albert Jacquez demonstrates how pigments made from a special chemical can be fused by applying heat with a lamp. This bonding takes from two to five minutes and makes paintings done in this new medium waterproof and capable of withstanding a double fold without cracking or separating. Heat also can be applied by ironing the unpainted side of the canvas or putting the painting in the kitchen oven.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Artists Reveal New Art Medium

Woodstock, Feb. 7 — Seven Woodstock artists revealed in 32 canvasses Tuesday afternoon in New York the results of a year's experimentation with a new medium—vinyl-based pigments similar in appearance to oils.

Albert Jacquez worked for more than a year in his Woodstock studio with scientists of B. F. Goodrich Chemical Company on the development of the new medium. Later, the other artists represented at Tuesday's exhibition, painted in various styles and techniques with vinyl-based pigments. They predicted the new pigments, because of their outstanding durability and workability, would find a definite place as an accepted medium of both the serious artist and the illustrator.

The paintings, ranging in style from landscapes to non-objective art, are the work of Jacquez, Edward Chavez, Ethel Magafan, John McClellan, John Pike, Reginald Wilson and Earle B. Winslow. The exhibit was held for members of the press at Schone-man Galleries, 63 East 57th street. The paintings will be on exhibit in Woodstock following the New York preview.

ONE OF the properties of the new material, called Vasco, is its ability to set up or fuse under a brief, simple application of heat. This, as Jacquez demonstrated, can be done easily in a matter of minutes at any stage of the painting to eliminate lengthy drying periods. Heat may be applied with a lamp, by ironing the unpainted side of the canvas or putting the painting in the kitchen oven.

Canvasses done in the vinyl-based colors are not damaged by rolling and crumpling and can be cleaned with soap and water without cracking or color deterioration. This durability minimizes damage in storage or shipment, and also makes it adaptable to almost any type of art work.

The new material is used with conventional brush or palette knife. It will not set up even though left exposed on the palette for weeks at a time. This is particularly advantageous where delicate colors have been specially mixed. This unique property, of course, eliminates waste of pigment and can mean a considerable saving in paint.

Jacquez demonstrated how it is possible to create such techniques as building up areas of a painting in bas-relief by heating the area until the pigments fuse, and then applying another layer of paint. This, he said, can be done as many times as desired.

THE ARTISTS found the heating application to take from two to five minutes, depending on the thickness of the paint. The heating bonds the paint and the base so that it will withstand a double fold without cracking or separating from the canvas. The bonding also makes the painting impervious to water.

The properties of the new pigments stem from the Geon vinyl base developed by Goodrich. To provide minimum penetration and maximum adhesion of the pigments, a vinyl-coated canvas is used.

The paint is packaged in conventional tubes and its viscosity can be reduced with a special thinner. A special cleaner is also needed because the vinyl pigments are not compatible with other art media. A non-absorbent material such as glass or metal is recommended for a palette.

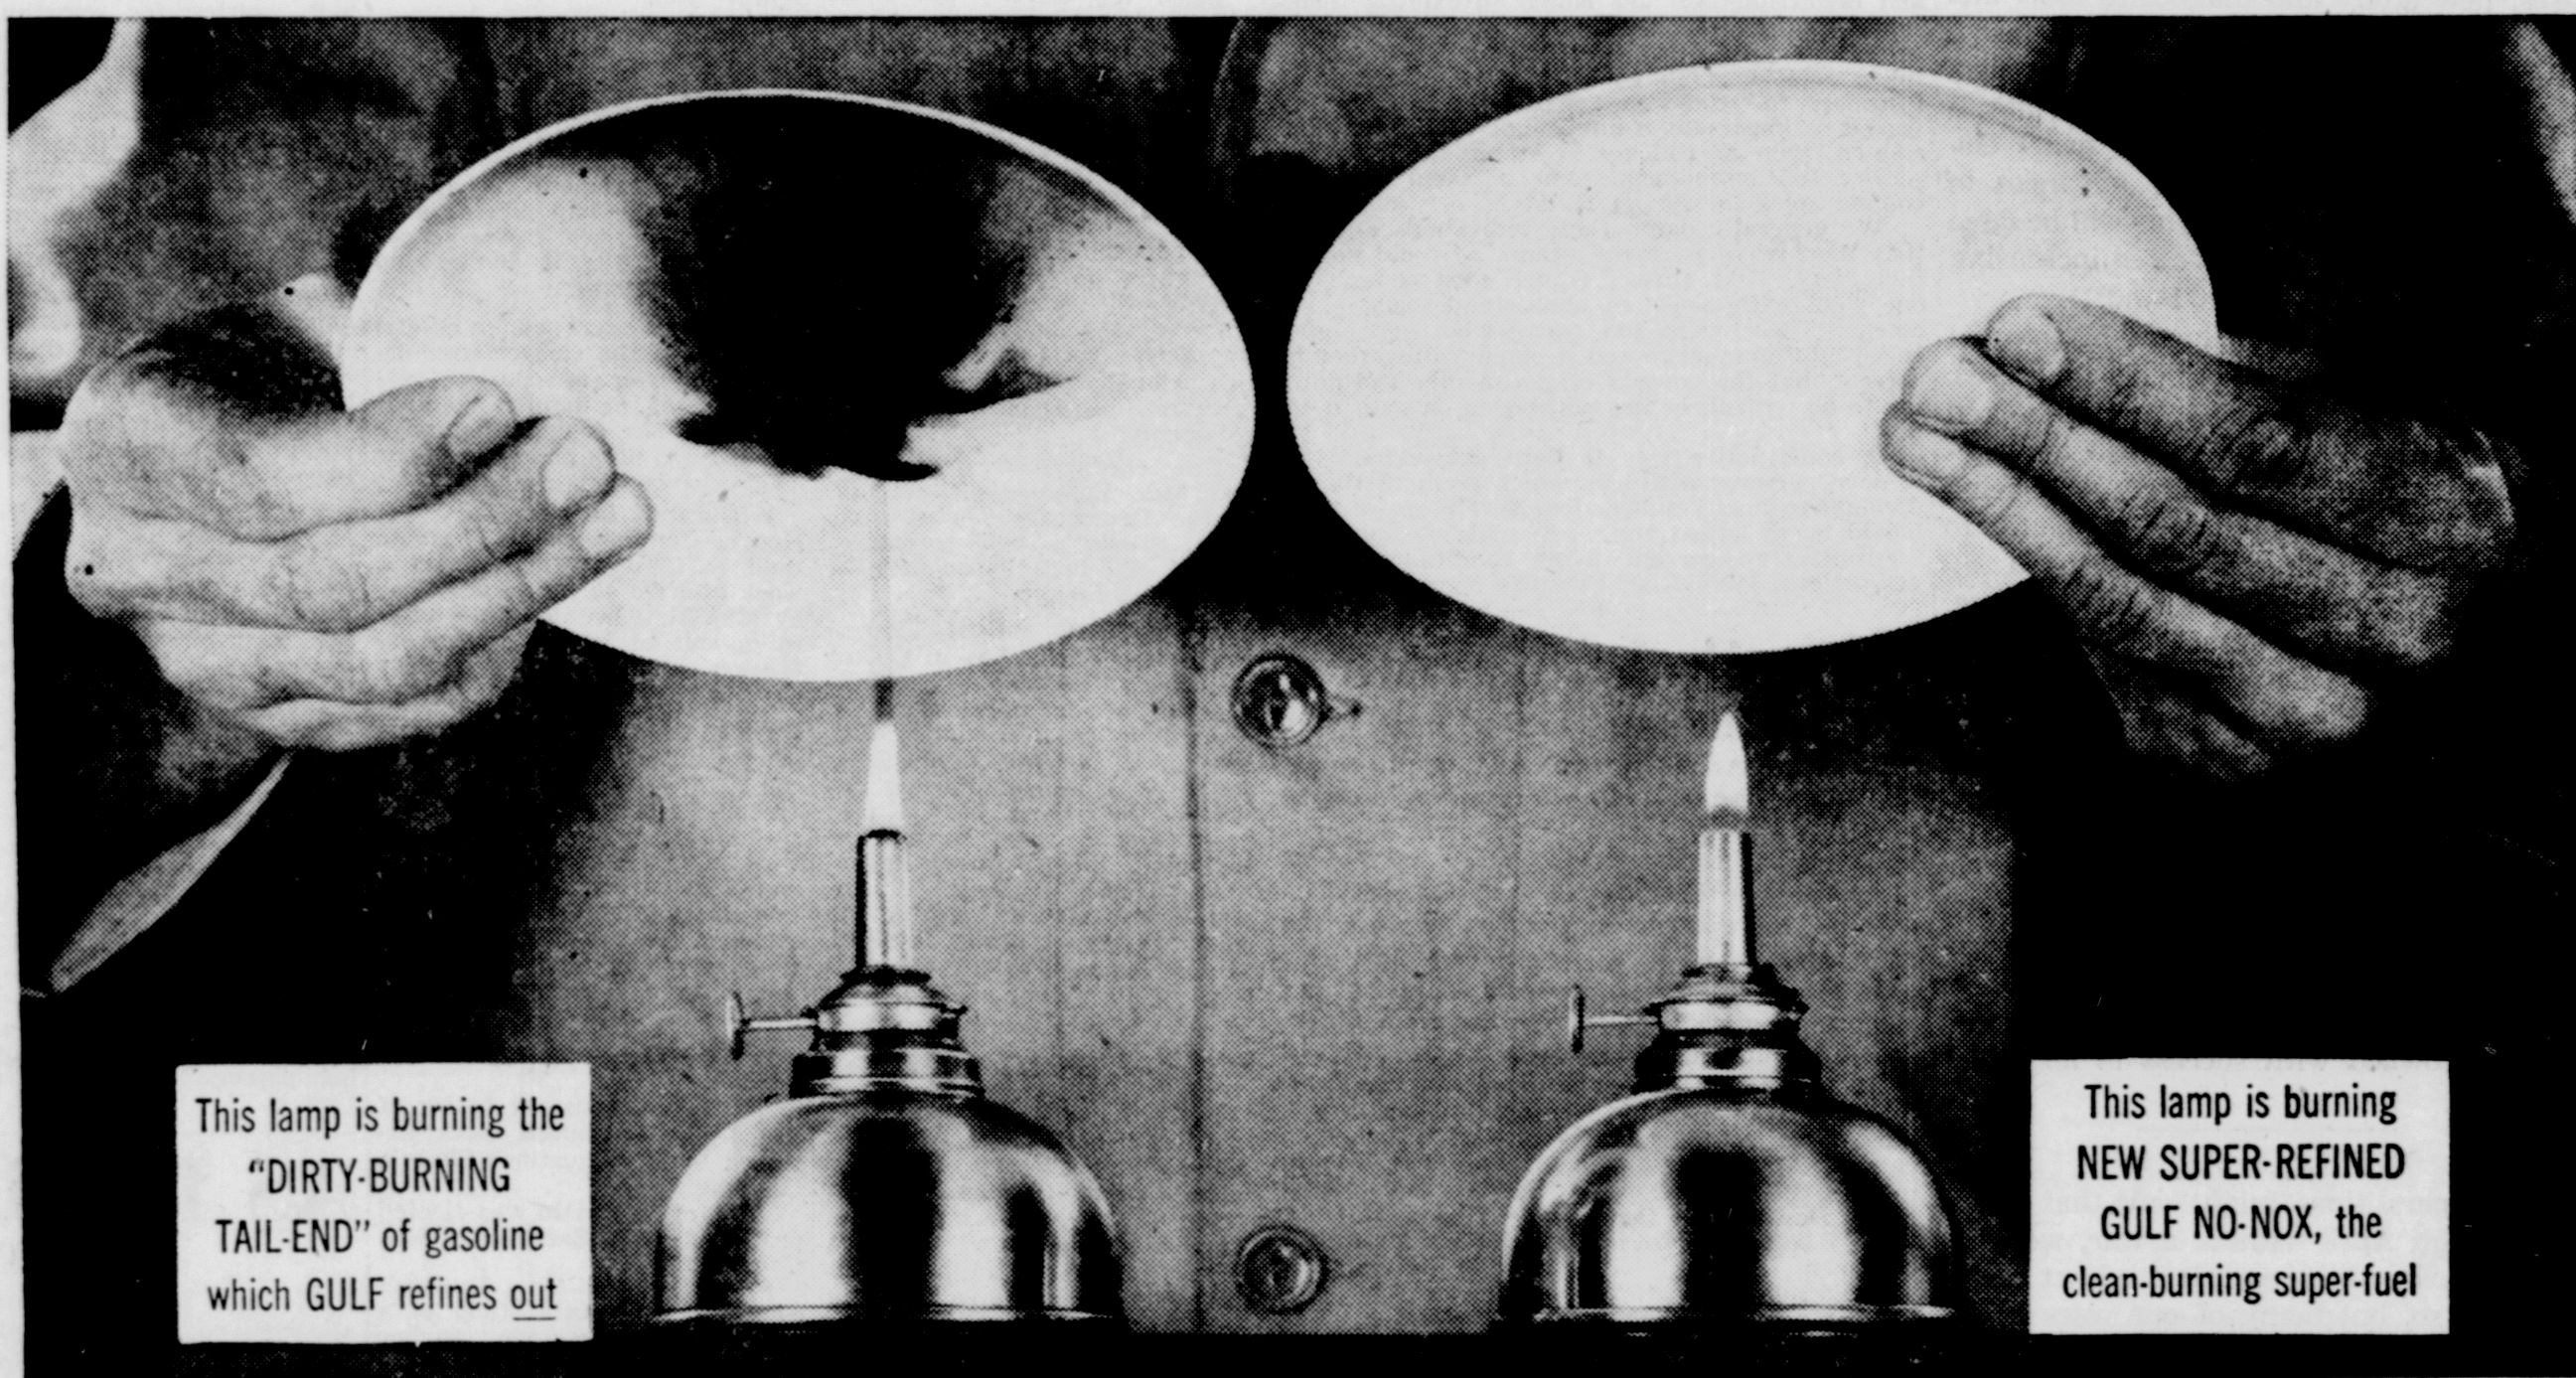

The new pigments, priced in the same class as oils, and vinyl-coated canvas, cleaners, thinners and special palettes are now available from Vinyl Art Supply Corp., Argyle. The company plans distribution through leading art supply stores throughout the nation in the near future.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). HOPE FOR HEARTS

Time was when a medical verdict of "heart trouble" was accepted as a death sentence from which there could be no appeal.

But no more. We now know that some forms of heart disease can be prevented, a few can be cured and that almost all cases can be helped by proper treatment.

The heart diseases account for more than 794,000 fatalities annually, or roughly 52 per cent of all deaths; they affect some 10,000,000 Americans, and they constitute the nation's leading health problem.

Yet despite all this, yesterday's attitude of despair and fatalism has been replaced with a new concept of confidence and optimism.

Little wonder it is, therefore, that hope is the underlying theme of the 1955 Heart Fund campaign, now under way here and in thousands of other communities.

And why is hope warranted? Consider these facts:

In the past few decades, astounding progress has been made in the development of new drugs, new therapy, new surgical procedures, new study and diagnostic tools and new knowledge about the human heart. But the surface has scarcely been scratched. It follows that medical science, while it is tracking down the causes of heart disease, will make even greater advances in treatment and prevention. This will be done as our medical scientists receive increasing support through the Heart Fund.

Fear is giving way to hope. Myths and superstitions about the heart diseases, which create unnecessary anxieties and deter sufferers from the proper management of their heart conditions, are being replaced by truths and facts—thanks to educational programs also supported by your Heart Fund dollars. Furthermore, your Heart Fund dollars will help speed vital new information about the heart diseases to physicians throughout the country.

In our community there is a continuing need to give heart sufferers the guidance they need to live happily with their hearts, and to continue as useful and productive members of society. Here, again, your Heart Fund dollars perform a useful service. Here, again, the outlook is bright with hope. Our hope is that the 1955 Heart Fund will be crowned with success in abundant measure.

PERILOUS APRIL

The superstitious might say that if we get through April without a war, we shall be safe for another year. It need not necessarily be so, but many of our wars began in April. The Revolution began in April. So did the Mexican War, the War Between the States, the Spanish War and World War I. The War of 1812 started in June, and as everybody knows, World War II was brought on by the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941. The Korean War began in June but April leads all the rest.

Probably the feeling about April is no more rational than that of the old lady who said, "I have always noticed that if I live through March, I live through the rest of the year."

John Sherman Cooper, former United States Senator from Kentucky, has been nominated for the post of Ambassador to India. From his past record he seems an ideal choice. Cooper served in the Senate until his defeat in the last election by Alben Barkley. Kentuckians, including many Democrats, had a hard time making up their minds between the two men. It is doubtful whether any candidate less popular than former Vice President Barkley could have won over him.

The financial crisis confronting the nation's colleges and universities is universally recognized. So serious is the situation that many industrial concerns are now giving financial aid to institutions of higher learning. But generous as this aid is, it is not enough. Tuitions, already high, cannot be raised further while the need for scholarship funds is expanding.

"These Days"

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE PROFESSORS AGAIN

When men speak of our "pink" universities, they rarely realize that in the rising wage scale of our country, those who deal with the most precious of our possessions, our children, have not been protected. They have in an inflationary era, during which the cost of living has risen enormously, grown poorer because their incomes buy less.

Men and women who are beset by personal problems can rarely devote themselves objectively to abstract thinking which fundamentally is the task of the scholar. In no part of the United States can a man with "white collar" responsibilities, married and perhaps with children to educate, live on $100 a week. The point is made in the statistics which I am about to quote that professors work for nine instead of 12 months a year which is meaningless because a man of learning has to continue to learn.

He cannot say that now that I have landed a job, I am all through with the acquisition of knowledge. A professor who adopted such an attitude would soon discover that some of his brighter students knew more than he did. These teachers have to read and do research and go to meetings and keep themselves abreast of new material. Therefore it is not sound to say that they are paid for nine months of teaching and that for three months a year, they are unemployed. That may be good bookkeeping; it is stupid pedagogy.

I have before me a list of the salaries paid in history courses in 42 Land Grant Colleges scattered over the United States. These salaries range as low as $3,000 a year for an instructor to $10,000 for a full professor. The average for all ranks in these 42 institutions is $5,056.87 a year or less than $100 a week. The salary of a top stenographer-secretary in New York would average $90 a week which I insert by comparison. The average paid to instructors is $3,768.26 a year. Full professors will run as low as $4,574.75 a year.

Most of your sons and daughters are taught by instructors, assistant professors and associate professors. Their salaries run, in these colleges, between $3,768 and $5,342 a year.

As wages go in the United States, what this amounts to is that your sons and daughters are being educated by one of the most poorly paid groups in the entire American economy, by men and women who must be troubled by money problems, who, if they assume the normal responsibilities of family life, are driven by personal inadequacies to undertake distracting additional work or who leave teaching for other activities as soon as an opportunity presents itself.

It can be said, on the other hand, that those who undertake to teach have other aims than monetary compensation. That, in no way, affects the case. Those who teach ought to be adequately compensated for the work they do if it is worth doing at all. It would be preferable to have fewer colleges of a higher quality than to have so many inadequately financed to provide instruction by scholars of sufficient peace of mind and leisure to be more than examination paper markers. Teachers ought to be an inspiration to the youth whose minds they mold.

The danger to the personal embassies and dissatisfactions are bound to express themselves in their teaching and in their casual conversations with students. It would be interesting for a sociologist to go back to the 1930's, for instance, to study the circumstances that diverted so important a number of young men and women, then at college, to an ardent, fanatical service to Communism, some of them even becoming spies for Soviet Russia.

We generally damn these individuals and say that there were so many others who did not go that way. That answer is not good enough for one who really seeks to understand social phenomena. There were too many who were influenced by Communism and it cannot altogether be correct that the poverty of the faculty had nothing to do with it, or has nothing to do with it today.

A constructive way to fight subversion is to remove personal attitudes which seem to the individual to justify subversion. Surely one of them would be to adjust the wage scale of university instruction to current living conditions.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SURVIVAL AFTER CORONARY OCCLUSION

When a diagnosis of acute coronary occlusion—heart stroke, stoppage of the artery supplying blood to the heart—was first given, the outlook for the patient for a long survival was considered doubtful. However, during the past 20 years, Drs. A. M. Master and H. L. Jaffe, Mount Sinai Hospital, New York, have repeatedly expressed their optimism concerning both recovery from the attack and subsequent ability to work.

In 1935 these physicians found that the death rate in private patients was only 10 per cent in those suffering their first attack of coronary occlusion. At present the death rate has dropped to 5 per cent. They feel that this very encouraging figure (lower than that found in ward patients) is the result of improved diagnosis and methods of treatment.

It is interesting to learn that one of the first important advances in treatment was the giving of a low calorie diet, "instead of the previous common practice of overfeeding. Underfeeding during the first week of the attack reduces the work of the heart and lessens the reflexes going on in the stomach and heart." These investigations also found that drugs such as digitalis and quinine sulfate should be used very carefully and others such as epinephrine and nitroglycerin should be avoided. More recently, the use of drugs to prevent blood clotting has given a more hopeful outlook in many cases.

Another valuable discovery has been that in follow-up studies after an acute attack, most patients have made a complete or satisfactory recovery and were working. Many of them had already lived ten years or more after the attack.

Of 500 patients studied, 415 were men and 85 were women, a ratio of five to one. The average age at which the first attack of coronary occlusion developed was 53.3 years. In this study of patients who had survived a coronary occlusion for from one to 29 years, it was found that two out of every five patients had made a complete recovery as far as the action of their heart was concerned and about the same number had made a satisfactory recovery in that they suffered only mild pain or shortness of breath on exertion. Three-quarters of these patients were, for the most part, working. It has been found that the outlook for patients who return to work is just as good as it is for those who retire—they are no more apt to develop coronary occlusion or heart failure and their death rate was not increased.

"The fear of financial dependence plays almost as much psychological havoc with these patients as does the anxiety about their heart condition for many are in the most productive years of their life. It is unnecessary and inadvisable to prohibit many of these patients from working for it has been found that their work performance is usually very satisfactory and that their health and life span is not affected by work."

"More and more, medical and heart associations are spreading the facts about the disease and enlisting the aid of industry in placing heart patients at work."

Washington (NEA) — In an effort to brief new congressmen on the situation in the Middle East, the U. S. State Department set up a background briefing session for one of its experts to tell the freshman lawmakers what it was all about. The meeting was scheduled to last one hour.

When the State Department man came to a discussion of relief for the Arab refugees, however, one woman who came in with the congressmen arose and proceeded to harangue the speaker for 22 minutes. No one dared to interrupt, thinking this might be one of the new congresswomen. The State Department expert took his heckling with the best grace possible.

After the session was over, however, the new congressmen themselves got to inquiring who this woman was who dared to criticize State Department policy so openly.

The check-up revealed she was Mrs. Emanuel Celler, wife of the Democratic congressman from Brooklyn and a leading Zionist. She had slipped into the meeting, uninvited.

JUST HOW MUCH interest the United States has in Chiang Kai-shek's Republic of China government on Formosa is indicated by a Nationalist Chinese news release saying that 460 high American officials had visited the island in the past year. Among them were Vice President Nixon, Secretaries of State Dulles, Defense Wilson, and Army Stevens, foreign aid chief Stassen, Admirals Radford, Stump and Price; Generals Clark, Hull, Taylor and Bolte.

This average of more than one visiting U. S. official a day to Formosa is reminiscent of all the good will missions Washington used to send to South America in the days before World War 2. There was some special American envoy on every plane or boat that landed. As one Latin diplomat declared at the time: "One more good will mission you send us and we declare war against you."

THERE HAS BEEN a big delay in getting the 14 task force reports to Congress from ex-President Herbert Hoover's second Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Federal Government. The first report, on the handling of government paper work, was scheduled for Jan. 10. It won't go up till mid-February.

Inability to get congressional members of the Hoover commission to go over its reports is given as one of the main reasons for the delay. The congressmen have all been too busy on getting their own organization in shape.

With this initial delay, the Hoover Commission will have to send to Congress one report a week in order to complete its job by May 31, scheduled date for it to go out of business. An extension of time will probably have to be asked for.

ONE OF the standing acts newsmen on Capitol Hill have come to expect is to see Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin muscle in on an important story. He's a genius at it. He knows just when newspaper editions go to press for morning and evening. His timing is perfect on stepping out of a closed meeting or into one—in an effort to provide a bulletin or new lead on a running story.

President Eisenhower's special message to Congress on the Formosa situation was no exception. Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees were assembled in joint session in the old Supreme Court building in the Capitol, to consider the resolution. Some 50 reporters, cameramen, television and radio people were assembled in the hall, waiting for something to happen. The session ran on into the supper hour. It was getting time for the first editions of the morning papers to go in.

Senator McCarthy isn't a member of either committee. But right on time, down the main corridor of the nearly empty Capitol he came—with a statement. He read it into the microphones and handed out copies to the wire services.

They dutifully transcribed it, as having happened. But strangely enough, for some reason or other, it didn't seem to get in the later editions of the papers this time.

VICE PRESIDENT Richard M. Nixon now has a trophy room in the Capitol. This is in addition to his vice presidential suite back of the Senate Chamber, and the suite he has assigned to him for his staff in the Senate Office Building.

The trophy room is P-51, a hard-to-find big room on the second floor of the Capitol, referred to as "the floor." Into this room the Vice President has put some of the trophies of his trip around the world.

There is a set of gold spoons from Sydney, Australia, a silver vase from Iran, a set of model Indonesian houses in silver filigree, a set of ceremonial gavel mounted on the wall, and a number of original cartoons on his career—the nice cartoons, that is.

Communist Bluff May Bring What Reds Desire—Gain Through Fear

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 7—Are vast numbers of Americans and Britishers innocently falling for the Communist game? Judging by the case of jitters which the Red Chinese have been giving America and Britain lately by threats and feints in and around Formosa and Korea, it is apparent that the Communists are scaring many people in the free world and may yet succeed in getting their own way by mere bluff.

The timing by the Red Chinese is significant. So preoccupied are most persons in this country with other things that they do not follow minutely the unfolding of the Communist strategy except when a plane is shot down or a blast comes from the Peiping radio.

Thus the islands off the coast of China have been occupied for many years now by the Nationalists and so has Formosa. This hasn't bothered the Reds too much. The 11 American airmen have been in jail ever since the Korean armistice of 1953. But all of a sudden the Red Chinese announce that the Americans have been sentenced as "spies." A few moves are then made with a threat to seize Formosa—impossible to achieve by force—and the Communists work up to another negotiation with propaganda value to them.

There isn't the slightest chance of a big war resulting from all these moves because the Red China government cannot afford to provoke a war and the Moscow government is afraid to bring on a two-front crisis lest there be uprisings in Poland, East Germany and the satellite states.

But it's easier to get things anyhow without a fight, according to the Communist concept. The Americans and British, the Communists think, are gullible and, judging from some surface indications, there is some ground for believing it's so.

The drive at the moment by the Red Chinese is not necessarily to gain admission into the United Nations. That's only a collateral issue with them. The main objective is to dominate all of Asia which means winning control without a fight not only of Formosa but of all of Korea, Japan, the Philippines and the valuable resources of southeast Asia. Admission to the UN is important only as it enhances Communist prestige and enables the Reds to make further gains in Asia.

These facts are known to our diplomats and to well-informed Chinese in this country and other orientals who have spent a lifetime studying Asian problems. Why then are these transparent deceptions not fully grasped generally in America and Britain and in those sections of the foreign press where arguments are being offered constantly that play right into the Communists' hands?

The issues are confused by men like Clement Attlee and some Americans, too, who say that, after all, Formosa belongs to China, that the off-shore islands are a part of the mainland, and that the Peiping regime is in military command of almost all the Chinese territory and hence should be recognized.

As a matter of fact there never has been any question about the point that if possession of the main territory were the only consideration, the Peiping government should long ago have been recognized. What is amazing is the number of times the legalistic phases are emphasized and the moral issues are completely disregarded. It's strange how forgetful some of these same persons are that Franco dominates Spain but can't get into the United Nations because Russia wields a veto.

It is astonishing how quickly leaders and spokesmen in the free world can forget the fact that 40,000 American boys were killed and 110,000 were wounded in Korea through the aggression of the Red China government which has had the effrontery to claim again and again that it wasn't responsible and that only "volunteers"—a million or more intervened in Korea.

When a regime is dishonest and incapable of discharging international obligations it has to be "quarantined" as the late President Roosevelt phrased it. That doctrine applies most especially to the Red China government today. But the exponents of expediency promptly say that Soviet Russia, already in the UN, is equally to blame—as if two wrongs make a single right. There are many people in Congress who are consistent about this—they feel that the Moscow government also should be outlawed and all decent nations should sever diplomatic relations with the gangster regime which for the moment controls Russia.

The Red Chinese are playing their customary game. They are relying on Laborite allies inside Britain to drive a wedge between Washington and London. Many editors and members of the government in Britain, however, are beginning to see through all this and are standing firmly by the United States. There is, of course, skulduggery behind the scenes. The moment there's a crisis in the Far East, Nehru or his crafty lieutenant, Krishna Menon, gets into the intrigue and there are immediate exchanges between London and Peiping and Moscow and New Delhi. India is a convenient go-between in arranging a surrender of the Indo-China "settlement" proved.

Now the game is to scoff at the United Nations, just as was the case at Geneva. The Red Chinese don't want an impartial conference—they want a stacked deck. When they talk of an international commission outside the UN to arrange a "cease fire" under certain conditions, they mean with at least half of the members of the commission to be from pro-Communist governments. This delays a settlement and wears out the western governments, who are in such a hurry to get things solved that they ultimately surrender everything to gain an imaginary and illusory peace.

The Communists are masters of patience and delay—they know they can exhaust the west by prolonged palavers. The technique of Panmunjom still gets results for them. How long will it be before a majority of the American and British peoples get wise to the Communist game? For it is a game that can be rendered fruitless only by firmness and a realistic perception of the art of bluff.

Fortune Magazine, one of Henry Luce's publications, is the latest recruit to this strange propaganda. Three years ago, the Reader's Digest selected the first notes in a hoax glorifying Brown as a stalwart fighter against communism in European countries. There have been many other chapters in daily papers, the theme of which would have it that Brown is a very brave fellow who actually "saved" France for "democracy" almost singlehanded. While he was at it, he also "saved" Germany, Italy, Belgium and Yugoslavia.

The first truth to be considered is that Brown did not stand up to the Communists in France, but, admittedly, withdrew to Brussels when I challenged his pretensions in Paris, he refused to hold still for questioning on the pretext that I was an enemy of American unionism. In fact I am, which has nothing to do with the case. The French Communists, who hold a veto power on the fate of that wretched ruin of a race and nation, had recently threatened to prevent the unloading of American munitions for the French army in one of the French ports. That would have been foolish of them because in case of shooting the Communists will get most or all of the French supplies.

So the threat of a strike probably was a mere Gallic jest in the cold war. Anyway, it was easily frustrated by an American general commanding an engineer depot. He bribed a few stevedores with premium pay while the pickets obligingly turned their attention to other ships containing nothing of interest to the general.

It is possible that the CIA, which is juvenile, disorderly and ridiculous "intelligence" service, dumped a few thousand or hundred thousand dollars of our money into the hands of the French Communists to make it appear that the CIA, and Brown, had frustrated a serious Red obstruction. The CIA has a supply of money out of American taxes the amount and disposition of which is unknown even to Congress. Allen Dulles, the brother of the secretary of state, wrote me flatly that the CIA would tell nobody anything. Thereupon I began to obtain "unauthorized" information right out of its own offices just to show what an incompetent thing the CIA is. The Dulleses are an arrogant lot who seem to feel a divine mission to mind our business for us according to their own superior wisdom.

The propaganda which built up this episode of the ammunition into a coup by Irving Brown told us that the hero went down to the docks at the head of a typical CIO mob of goons recruited from the ranks of French toilers opposed to communism. That was rubbish and the general said that as far as he knew, Brown was nowhere in France at the time. At any rate, France has never been "saved" from communism. The native traitors who laid down their arms and let the Germans move in freely during the blitz are heavily reinforced by the Spanish traitors who fled over the Pyrenees when Franco beat the Muscovite armies, including Marshal Tito's.

Italy voted "Communist" only a few months ago, in direct repudiation of the pompous bombast of Henry Luce, who was scurrying around in striped pants in the role of husband of the ambassador. The CIA also got repudiated in this embarrassing development and meanwhile India, which also got a generous dose of Brown's activities and the CIA's money, has become a Soviet prostrate.

In Germany, the CIA has always found itself in competition with similar incompetents, too.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Kingston's West Shore railroad opened its route in June of 1883 and in the same month and year the famous Kaaterskill Hotel opened its doors. It was considered the most magnificent mountain hotel in the world in the early 1880's. It was built on the topmost peak of the mountain from which it took its name and was 3,000 feet above sea level. It is said from its broad piazzas a commanding view of 10,000 square miles of the Hudson valley could be seen and 60 miles of the Hudson river. It housed comfortably some 1,000 guests. Even back in those days it was lighted throughout with gas and electricity and heated by steam besides open fire places. No doubt there was plenty of excitement at the railroad station in Kingston as famous people from all over the world made their rail connections to the Kaaterskill at Kingston. The West Shore ran two special Kaaterskill expresses, with through parlor cars, via the Ulster and Delaware RR.

The hotel put out a fine printed semi-weekly paper in book form giving social events and personal items etc. For instance one item read: "Among the excursion party who arrived at the Laurel House Tuesday on a tour of the U and D, Stony Clove and Kaaterskill RR for inspection and pleasure were: Hon. Thomas Cornell; Jansen Hasbrouck, president of the National Bank of Rondout; Alvah S. Staples, vice-president of the RR; Dr. David Kennedy; William F. Romer, S. D. Coykendall and sons, Conrad Hasbrouck, S. C. Connelly, of the N. Y. Custom-house, and James L. Van Deusen. The party was met at the Kaaterskill Station by Captain Gillet, of Hotel Kaaterskill, and conducted to the Laurel House, where they dined and were then conducted to the Hotel Kaaterskill. A cannon was fired on their arrival at the Laurel House and the day among the natives and the guests of the mountain houses was one of rejoicing. The air was damp with rain in the morning, subsiding at noon. The party returned last evening, delighted with their trip and entertainment." All the above names are still well known in Kingston.

Of course, such a hotel had to have various fire escapes. They had hose and stand pipes, also Babcock fire extinguishers on each floor. At each end of the main hallways they had a large balcony on the outside of the building, with stationary ladders, so that ladies and children could escape with comfort. Additional fire escapes were provided by the New England Fire Escape Co. It also described this New England Fire Escape which was a simple chute, made so that a person could slide from any height with perfect safety. It told how this morning in June several ladies and gentlemen guests were sent down this New England chute with entire safety and that they promised frequent exhibitions during the season so that all the guests would become acquainted with the contraption.

In the July 25, 1883 issue of the paper item read: "General and Mrs. George H. Sharpe and daughter are here. They accompanied General and Mrs. U. S. Grant." Miss Sharpe, it seems was Gen. Grant's niece. General Sharpe's residence is now the annex of the Gov. Clinton Hotel and was moved to the back of the garden to make room for the hotel.

Delegates Report Albany Pilgrimage

New Paltz, Feb. 5—Members of the Adult Education class in Americanization at the New Paltz High School were greatly impressed by the report given them at their last meeting by the delegates to the first annual Americanization Pilgrimage to Albany Jan. 23 and 24. William Harshaw and Peter Schirripa will long remember their experiences of observing a democratic government in action at the State-level and viewing Albany's historic sites—sites that, over the years, have come to symbolize the great heritage of freedom.

After an opening banquet at the TenEyck Hotel there was folk dancing featuring the dances of their native lands, as Poland, Czechoslovakia, Japan, and Italy.

Monday morning found the delegates touring the Albany area visiting the famous Schuyler Mansion, built by General Philip Schuyler of Revolutionary War fame where they saw the room where Betsy Schuyler, the general's daughter, married Alexander Hamilton. They visited Fort Crailo in Rensselaer where Yankee Doodle was composed by a British doctor during the French and Indian Wars. They went through the State library—where two of the country's most treasured documents are on exhibit—they are the original manuscripts of Washington's Farewell Address and Lincoln's Emancipation.

At 4 p. m. Monday, they met Governor Harriman and enjoyed a short talk with him and later observed the State Legislature in action.

The pilgrimage was sponsored by the Bureau of Adult Education with the cooperation of the League of Women Voters, the Council of Jewish Women, Daughters of the American Revolution, the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and various service clubs.

Will Talk on Taxes

New Paltz, Feb. 5—Now that the season to start worrying about filling out income tax returns is here, Mr. Dippel, director of the New Paltz Adult Education program, has received several requests for a speaker on that particular subject. On Wednesday, Feb. 9, at 7:30 p. m., James Geary, a Kingston accountant, will deliver a lecture on Income Tax to the Adult Education Law Class. Any interested persons will be welcome to attend.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Tired Teens

Does your teen-ager sleep till noon on Saturday to the tune of the vacuum cleaner and other assorted bedlam? Does he (including she, of course) do his geometry stretched out on his bed? Does he carry on his telephoning sprawled on the floor. Is he always too tired to help with the dishes?

He may be ill, but he's more likely to be normal. And he isn't faking either. Teen-agers tire easily for one or more of a dozen reasons, doctors tell us. It's just natural for them to need extra rest and sleep. Fortunately, it's one more of those periods of life about which parents can say hopefully, "They'll grow out of it." Wise parents can help them get through this period with the least fatigue.

First, of course, it is important to be sure that there is no illness causing your teen-ager's tiredness. He should have a thorough physical examination and chest X-ray as often as the doctor advises. Unhappiness and worry also can cause fatigue. It isn't always easy for parents to get to the bottom of the anxieties from which adolescents sometimes suffer seriously. The family doctor can often be of great assistance.

The major reasons for normal fatigue are rapid growth, too little sunshine and outdoor exercise, an overloaded schedule of social and school activities, poor diet, and overweight. You can't slow up your teen-ager's growth, but you can make sure that he gets plenty of outdoor exercise and a proper diet with the extra protein he needs. You can help him budget his time so that he can get his work done, have fun, and still get to bed at a reasonable hour. And let him sleep late on Saturday morning.

As Pegler Sees It

ers, loafers and parasites in the army intelligence, which in large part has been simply awful for years and nowhere worse than in the Pentagon itself. It appears that when an officer proves by drunken, dissolute and otherwise vicious conduct that his presence with troops would destroy discipline, he thus nominates himself for intelligence. If he has superior gifts in black-market commerce, in coffee, for example, which was the specialty of one distinguished rogue, he lands close to the very top. However, in Germany, the CIA has been the "intelligence" arm of the hicalorum in Bonn and this concentration of misfits brought off the spectacular coup of Dr. Otto John, who absconded to Soviet Russia with a great deal of confidential information. It is unnecessary to labor the failure of the CIA's work in Central America in recent months, although this was all the CIA's field of responsibility. The very reason why these publications and numerous individual press-agents for Lovestone and Brown should want to delude us is not apparent. They may be earnestly, if stupidly, mistaken themselves. But obviously Lovestone, Brown and the CIA have not driven communism back behind the Iron Curtain because the Reds never were stronger in France than they are today. In Italy they are more numerous during the Luce regime than they have been at any time since Mussolini marched on Rome in a Pullman. And Yugoslavia is still a Communist dictatorship. Atoms for Power?

Here's an up-to-the-minute progress report:

Just what is the potential of atoms for power?

Well, a three-pound bar of uranium, no larger than a small flashlight, offers a power potential equal to 60 carloads of coal. Uranium, in the quantity shown above, is capable of producing enough electric power to serve the entire Central Hudson territory for at least four days!

• In 1955, the Associates will spend about four million dollars for atomic research and development.

• Work will also continue on fabrication of nuclear fuel elements, and on other aspects of using atomic energy to produce electricity.

This is a stimulating example of the power of industrial teamwork!

Member companies of Atomic Power Development Associates contribute specialized talents through their own personnel. Company-owned research and development facilities have also been made available. And all the Associates have generously contributed the necessary funds to keep this work going forward.

Those member companies who are utilities produce about 40% of the nation's electric power. The non-utility companies are, in many cases, industrial giants. But all 33 share the same kind of vision—the vision of a better world.

Yes, thanks to this kind of cooperation, hope for atomic energy for power is a dream that can come true in our time!

Last month in Detroit, representatives of 33 U. S. companies, who are members of Atomic Power Development Associates, agreed on a program for 1955. The resources of these companies are coordinated to discover a new way to harness uranium, a source of energy which can benefit mankind for literally thousands of years. Their 1955 plans are important forward steps toward the goal of employing nuclear fission to produce electric power.

• Major point in the 1955 program is the development of a full-scale test facility. As an integral part of the test facility, Atomic Power Development Associates also authorized development of a steam generator for test purposes.

BONDS OR STOCKS

In 1940 two sisters inherited their father's estate. Mostly it was in frozen assets which, while sound, were hard to sell. Eventually everything was converted into cash with each sister receiving half.

In reinvesting the money, diametrically opposed policies were employed. One sister wanted no part of common stocks. Her advisor counseled bonds and fixed dollar interest-bearing obligations. Cheap money was on the horizon but its impact on prices had not yet unduly undermined the dollar's purchasing power.

In 1940, Uncle Sam was borrowing 42 billion dollars and was paying an average rate of 2.58 per cent for his money. In 1930, when his loans were 15 billions he paid 3.81 per cent. A discerning person could see in 1940 that interest rates were headed downward and prices upward.

For 15 years this sister has followed the original investment policy. She has had to lower her standard of living and, at the same time, she has had to sell some of her high grade, low-yielding bonds. In dollar value, her estate depreciated 35 per cent and in terms of purchasing power it has gone down at best 75 per cent.

THE SECOND SISTER bought a portfolio of America's soundest preferred and common stocks. In December 1945 her list showed over 200 per cent appreciation and last year her income was six times her sister's. She is sharing her income with her bond-minded sister.

In 1955 as in 1940, a question of international importance arises: what kind of investments should be bought for widows, orphans, heirs to estates, educational, social, religious and philanthropic institutions?

Today a dilemma faces all investment managers: Money is still cheap which means that high grade bond prices are selling in the skies. At the same time high grade stock prices are also high.

If these sisters were to come into their money in 1955, should they employ the same policies as in 1940? Or, in light of present circumstances, should the first sister abandon her investment policy?

Well, from the looks of things now, will money get more expensive? If it does, high grade bond prices will fall. One must look to Washington for the answer to this question.

For 25 years Uncle Sam has been spending more money than he has been taking in 90 per cent of the time. Balanced budgets are still not in sight. Furthermore, in 1953, the hardening of money rates threatened a recession and easy money conditions were reinstated.

Consequently, cheap money is still in prospect. Bond yields will be low and best grade bonds will sell high.

Subject, of course, always to exceptions in individual cases. I think the investment policy of the second sister is the one to employ in 1955.

Suppose an heir inherits $50,000. Three per cent interest on that will produce gross income of $125 a month. In our present economy that will not afford much of a standard of living. I favor putting $5,000 in a savings bank paying 2½-3 per cent annual interest.

With the other $45,000 buy nine good common stocks of the leading American enterprises. Yields of 4.5 to 6 per cent can be had. And over a period of years some of them will double in price and increased dividends will inevitably come along.

Capital management in these days of cheap money has never needed enlightenment more than today. America needs thousands of investment advisers of the type who helped the second sister.

AND IT NEEDN'T be too good. A lad who aspires to bore you when I get the gate asked ME NEW BOOK had a little run-in lately with a college professor—about my bad grammar. He was awful nice about it; kept it a quiet matter between the two of us. He didn't write any editors; just bawled me out privately—over the radio.

It could have made me sore, except that I've been cashing in on screwy English so long that I sort of liked the free plug; besides, at that very moment, I was shy of a topic for this masterpiece.

When today's hand was played recently in a French team match, Pierre Albarran managed to fulfill the difficult slam contract in spades. Even with all the cards in full sight it isn't easy to make the slam, and Albarran had the task of winning 12 tricks with only the dummy and his own hand to guide him.

West opened the king of diamonds and continued at the second trick with the ace of diamonds. This continuation forced dummy to ruff, the best defense.

Albarran next led the ace of spades from the dummy, expecting an easy time. With a normal spade break he would be able to draw trumps and spread the hand. When West discarded a diamond on the first round of trumps, however, Albarran saw that he had a real problem on his hands.

After some thought he led the king of hearts from dummy and discarded the deuce of clubs from his hand. His next step was to lead dummy's ace of hearts and to discard thereon—the ace of clubs.

This spectacular play was absolutely necessary. Declarer continued by ruffing a heart, led a club to dummy's queen, ruffed another heart, and led a club to dummy's king. The two club entries to dummy were possible after South had discarded the ace of clubs, but would not have been possible if South had discarded two low clubs.

Now declarer could lead a club from dummy and ruff in his hand for the third time. This series of plays reduced South to two trumps and a diamond. It was then easy to lead the carefully preserved diamond in order to ruff with dummy's queen of spades. Any return from the dummy then permitted South to win the last two tricks by overruffing East.

The Ego Virus

By FRANK TRIPP

There is that cussed blank sheet of paper looking up at me again. An editor, who is going to ditch a lot of better copy, wants me to put something on it and send it to him. If I put down what I'm thinking, he'd fire me.

So why don't I, and see what happens? This columning is only an ego virus anyway. Nobody would ever miss a columnist or two. "Amen," says you.

That changes it. It's all right to amen me, and I'll even add "glory hallelujah"—but for heaven's sake don't say it to an editor.

Let me bow out with a sob-drenched swan song; tearfully leave my vast audience of admirers heart-broken. After so many years of advice to the confused, courage for the timid, and aprons for pantry shelves, seems like I rate that.

If you'll just hold off, I promise it soon; before it's too late to make it look like a blow to humanity.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

ON THE SUBJECT OF SMOKING

A reader asks: "How can I be courteous about letting visitors in my house know that I do not like cigarette smoke? When I have to spend a day or evening with smokers I am completely seasick."

If people you care very little about are the smokers, the solution is simple enough, since you need not continue inviting them to your house. If, however, all the people you like best smoke, you will, I am afraid, have to accustom yourself to smoke or resign yourself to loneliness. On the other hand, I think it only fair to mention your friends should in their turn show reasonable consideration for you by refraining from smoking at a dining table which has not been furnished with ashtrays and cigarettes. After the meal, of course, the question of courtesy goes into reverse, and those who dislike smoke are—unhappily for themselves—expected to tolerate it. One thing that might help you—if you have not already discovered it, is to remove the dead ends constantly from the ashtrays, or better still, get special ash receivers beneath water compartments beneath trap tops which prevent that stale smell.

Acknowledging Messages of Congratulation

Dear Mrs. Post: My son has just passed his bar examination is now a lawyer. He has received quite a few cards and telegrams of congratulation. Will you please tell me if it is necessary for him to acknowledge these messages?

Answer: As a new lawyer undoubtedly looking for clients, answering messages would seem advisable, even though not really necessary. In any case he should remember who sent them so that he can thank personally each well wisher when he sees him next.

Seating Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: At a dinner party, who directs the guests where to sit—the host or hostess?

Answer: The hostess usually, but if there are more than six people place cards are generally used.

Are you planning to have a dinner party without help? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her booklet No. 503, includes suggested menus and details in the simplest way to obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G. MARBLETOWN CENTRAL

During the January meeting the PTF Club agreed to cooperate with the Rondout Valley Lions Club in extending an invitation to Dr. Herbert Johnson to speak on the new remedial reading clinic now under organization in Ulster county. Residents of the towns of Rosendale and Marbletown are invited to join the members of the Rondout Valley Lions Club and the PTF Club Thursday, Feb. 10, at 8 p. m. at the MCS Gym to hear the lecture on remedial reading and to participate in the discussion period which will follow. There will be no admission or donation fee. Two other dates announced for future activities were: April 23, spring dance; May 17, the Choralists' Concert. The membership committee reported 128 members as of January. The third grade won the attendance banner with the largest percent of parents present. The next regular meeting of the PTF Club will be held Feb. 23 and will feature a library program.

Following the business meeting a brief outline of the bus transportation routes was given by Merton Blanchard, principal. A map of the MCS school district with the bus routes marked in colors helped to illustrate the talk. Blanchard said that it took approximately six months to study and set up the present routes which involve 600 miles of driving each day to transport 412 elementary and 125 high school children to and from school. Ten rules for better bus behavior were read by Garton Wager which are in force on his bus routes. Other suggestions for good behavior were discussed by parents and bus drivers, an outline of which will be mimeographed and sent home to parents in the near future. It was felt that the cooperation of the bus drivers and the interest shown by the parents present at the meeting was an indication that the MCS bus problems were of a minor variety and that most parents were in favor of the present bus policies.

New York Loses Snow

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Rain and mild temperatures came to New York city yesterday, melting remnants of snow left from a period of bitter cold last week. At midnight nearly an inch of rain had fallen and the weather bureau reported the temperature was 48 degrees. By tonight the weatherman expects temperatures to become more typical of the season and drop into the 20s. In nearby Rockland county the warmer air and a fine rain hit snow deposits and ice on the Hudson river, producing a heavy fog that lasted throughout the day and kept most traffic off the roads.

Two Causes Possible For Sawkill Blaze

The fire which destroyed the home of Eugene Missano on Hallihan Hill near Sawkill Saturday morning could have originated in either a kerosene heater or bottled gas stove, it was reported today following investigation by the sheriff's office and Sawkill Fire Chief Francis Joy. The home was equipped with both types of stoves, Deputy Benjamin Newkirk reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Missano and their two children were in Brooklyn when the fire broke out. The home was a complete loss before the fire was discovered, firemen said.

Rockwell Is Improving

Bryn Mawr, Pa., Feb. 7 (AP)—Peter Rockwell, son of artist Norman Rockwell was taken off the critical list yesterday for the first time since being injured in a fencing match last Tuesday. Physicians at Bryn Mawr Hospital said that young Rockwell, a Haverford College freshman, was out of danger for the first time since the accident. He was injured when the protective tip broke off an epee during a Haverford-Princeton match. The dueling piece pierced his lungs and the sac around the heart. A delicate emergency operation had to be performed to remove accumulating blood which threatened to stop the youth's heart.

Godwin Scores 15 For Hawks Blow Big Lead In One Game

New Paltz State had a chance to win one of two weekend road games, but wound up losing both.

In the Saturday game, Oneonta State ground out a 39-81 lead in the first half and went on to score an impressive 80-69 victory.

BOB MILLER, returning to action after a bout with the flu, fired 30 points against Albany State. Dick King hit 14 and Foster and Siegel had 10 each.

John Godwin made only one point against Albany but bounced back with 15 to lead the Hawks against Oneonta.

Jack Haber Scores on 3-Pointer Breaks 49-49 Tie; Score 19 Points

The Firemen beat the Cops, 52-49, last night before a modest gathering in the March of Dimes benefit game last night at the municipal auditorium.

The inclement weather cut heavily into the anticipated attendance but those who turned out witnessed two excellent games.

IN THE PRELIMINARY, the Cherry girls walloped the Basketeers, 52 to 17, as Audrey Cherny, Liz Carr and Phyllis Kantrowitz put on a great scoring exhibition.

The Cops were shut out in the third period and the relapse was fatal to Manager Bill Hanley's basketeers. They bounced back gallantly with 22 points in the stretch period but didn't quite make it.

JACK HABER was the big hero for the Firemen, breaking up a 49-49 tie with a three-point play to clinch the contest in the closing seconds.

Haber displayed a flashy hook shot from sidcourt to lead both teams with 19 points. His teammate, Form Coughlin, was impressive under the boards and hooped 17. Mgr. Clayton Stalter furnished 10.

The big guns for the Cops were Jack Houghtaling with 16 points and Lou Sapp with 12. Houghtaling showed a keen eye with 10 points from the charity stripe.

AUDREY CHERNY scored 18 points for the Cherry squad which ran up a 16-2 lead against the Basketeers in the first period. Liz Carr thrilled the spectators with a series of set shots from midcourt and wound up with 17 points.

Phyllis Kantrowitz with 15 points for Cherny's and Rosemary Pillsworth with 10 for the Basketeers were other standouts.

Richard Sizzles At New York

By The Associated Press
Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, sensational wingman of the Montreal Canadiens, has come up with another amazing performance to strengthen the claims of his supporters, who say he must be ranked with the "great" in the annals of the National Hockey League.

Richard, the most productive goalgetter ever to don skates in the NHL, put on a sensational shooting and stick-handling performance last night as he sparked the high-flying Montreal Canadiens to a 7-3 victory over the New York Rangers.

ALL THE ROCKET did was to score four times and contribute an assist. Oddly enough, the goals were his first on New York ice this season and gave him a total of 32—most in the league.

Montreal boosted its league lead to five points over the runner-up Detroit Red Wings, who tied Boston 2-2 last night. The Toronto Maple Leafs downed the Chicago Black Hawks 4-2.

Don McClaren of St. Louis has bettered the 1800 mark in the American Bowling Congress tournament all-events for the past six years.

Swedish Skater Beats Soviet Aces

Falun, Sweden, Feb. 7 (AP)—Russia's stranglehold on the European speed skating championships was broken yesterday by tall Sigge Ericsson, who gave Sweden its first title in eight years.

In the two-day competition, Ericsson won the five and ten thousand meter events, was third in the 1,500 and 19th in the 500. He wound up with 205.960 points compared to 207.033 for Russia's Oleg Goncharenko in second place.

Russia's Boris Shilkov, current world champion, wasn't among the first 10.

Carter, Saxton Fight Non-Title Bouts This Week

(By The Associated Press)
Two world boxing champions, lightweight Jimmy Carter and welterweight Johnny Saxton, stray over the weight limit to pick up some cash in non-title bouts this week at Boston and Akron, Ohio, in the busiest boxing week of the new year.

High-ranked contenders in the heavy, light heavy, middle and lightweight divisions also will be active.

CARTER'S FRIDAY bout at Boston with welterweight Tony Demarco, a prime home town favorite, could very well be the bout of the week. It probably will sell out the Boston Garden. The champ gets a $25,000 guarantee plus a privilege of 30 per cent of the gate. Since Carter stopped Paddy Demarco (no relation) to win back his title, Nov. 17 he had only one bout, a 10-round decision over Bobby Woods.

Demarco, No. 6 among the welter contenders, hasn't fought since Nov. 6 when he stopped Pat Manzi in one round. He had to pull out of a December match with Joe Ciceli due to cuts received in the gym.

SAXTON ventures into the home town of Ronnie Delaney, a clever southpaw middleweight who has lost only once in 63 starts. The Akron bout, also set for Friday, will be the second for Saxton since he upset Kid Gavilan in a "stinker" to win the crown at Philadelphia, Oct. 20.

Although the match was set back once from Jan. 14 when Saxton was injured, it is expected to attract a big crowd.

PAULIE ANDREWS, a knockout winner over Boardwalk Billy Smith, will try to even an old score with Harold Johnson of Philadelphia in the Madison Square Garden feature Friday (NBC-radio and TV).

Andrews, No. 2 among the light heavy contenders, and Johnson, the No. 3 boy, met March 17, 1954 with Johnson winning the decision after being knocked down in an early round.

CHICO VEJAR, back from the Army, returns to the TV lanes (ABC) to box Joey Klein of New York tonight (Monday) at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway. Vejar, seriously injured in a plane crash a year ago, will be making his second start since his discharge from service. He stopped Reggie Alotti at his home town, Stamford, Conn., Jan. 28. Klein's latest was a TKO over Gerry Dreyer Jan. 3.

HOLLY MIMS, No. 3 among Bobo Olson's middleweight challengers, takes on Milo Savage, unranked Salt Lake City scrapper, Monday at St. Nicholas Arena in New York (Dumont-TV). Mims bowed to Rocky Castellani on a disputed decision Jan. 12, while Savage surprised by whipping Moses Ward Jan. 7.

BATTLE IN THE REAR AREA — Danish speedster Gunnar Nielsen breaks the tape and the indoor mile mark, unaware of the wrestling match going on between his rivals in the Wana-maker Mile at Madison Square Garden, New York city (Feb. 5). Wes Santee, left, is grabbed by Fred Dwyer after a bumping incident on the turn as another competitor moves up at right rear. Dwyer finished second and Santee third after the squabble, but Dwyer was disqualified and moved back for holding Santee. Nielsen's time of 4:03.6 in the Millrose Games feature broke the week-old record indoor mark of 4:03.8 set by Santee. (AP Wirephoto).

College Powers Point
For Post-Season GamesNCCA to Start
Within Month

By The Associated Press

The college basketball powers were beginning to think seriously in terms of the post-season tournaments today as the campaign moved into the final crucial four weeks.

Just one month from today, the firing starts in the NCAA tournament. Some of the conferences are just going through the motions, while others probably will not be decided until the final game of the regular season.

IN THE SKYLINE, for example, Utah shows a 7-0 record and should breeze in. Brigham Young, next best with 4-2, can only hope to make it close. The two play a home-and-home series this weekend.

The same holds true in the northern section of the Pacific Coast Conference where Oregon State is the undisputed master with a 10-0 record. The team is a cinch for the PCC playoffs.

At the other end is the Ivy League, with four clubs still in the running. At the moment, Penn leads with a 6-1 record. But the Quakers meet Columbia, the No. 2 team with a 5-1 mark, tomorrow night. Cornell and Princeton also could sneak in. Each has lost only two.

BESIDES THE conference

champions, nine independents are selected for the NCAA tournament. Among the best are San Francisco (15-1), Duquesne (12-3), Marquette (16-1), Dayton (16-3), Cincinnati (17-3), Connecticut (15-2), Villanova (12-4), Niagara (14-3), Canisius (11-3), Memphis State (15-3), LaSalle (16-4), and Holy Cross (12-4).

Not all of them, of course, would be interested in the NCAA, mostly because the large teams never get a first-round bye. The National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden would like to grab off some of the independents.

Here is how the rest of the major conferences stand:

BIG TEN — Iowa and Minnesota are tied with 5-2, and Illinois still is very much in the running with 4-2.

ATLANTIC COAST — A close battle with Maryland leading at 8-2 and three teams — Duke, North Carolina and North Carolina State — tied for second

Order Is Protested

Albany, Feb. 7 (AP)—Inter-city bus operators are protesting a new Albany Service Commission order requiring them to install speed recorders for trips of more than 35 miles. Eighteen bus lines and associations said yesterday they had asked the PSC for a rehearing on the order and a six-month postponement of the deadline dates, which range from July 1, 1955, to Jan. 1, 1956. The group claims to represent every inter-city bus company in the state, plus the motorbus industry in general and school bus operators.

Blast Injures Six at Latham

Albany, Feb. 7 (AP)—An explosion of undetermined cause ripped a frame house to bits yesterday and injured six members of a suburban family.

Thomas Armstrong said his family was sitting in the kitchen of the seven-room house when he smelled something unusual in the cellar. When he reached there to investigate, Armstrong said, the house exploded around him. His wife and children fell through the floor into the cellar.

THE BLAST BROKE a plate-glass window in a store half a mile away. A man who lives two blocks distant said it felt as though a truck had hit his home.

A two-block area was evacuated for five hours and gas service was turned off for the same period. The blast occurred about 1:30 p. m.

Armstrong, 37; his wife, Margaret, 35, and their four children, Sally, 10; Margaret, 9; Jeffrey, 8; and Kevin, 5, were treated at Albany Hospital for burns and cuts. All were reported in fair condition.

The house stood on a small rise at the intersection of Shaker Road and Elizabeth street in Latham, about five miles north of Albany.

Wreckage of the house was scattered over a wide area and a large piece of the roof hung on a tree.

Fassburg Case Closed by Death

Baltimore, Feb. 7 (AP)—The case of Edgar Fassburg of Brooklyn, N. Y., confidence man, draft dodger and impostor who carried his last pose right through to his own self-inflicted death has ended here and the file sent to New York police.

Yesterday officers spent four hours explaining to Fassburg's wife that he was not Dr. Edward James Phillips—as she and many others apparently had believed for more than two years—but a man who never graduated from high school.

He was not a brigadier general in the Army Medical Corps, but a man known to the FBI as an experienced bunco artist who had at various times passed as a lawyer and marine officer as well as a physician.

FASSBURG DIED Wednesday of an overdose of a barbiturate, and the death was ruled a suicide. Before he died, he telegraphed a friend, Dr. Edna Guttenstein, that a testimonial dinner which was supposed to have been given for him in New York had been called off because of his own death—and signed the telegram with the name of a "guest speaker."

Telephoned his wife 17 minutes later that the dinner was called off because the "guest speaker" had died.

Then a few hours later, he killed himself.

It took police until Saturday

Vitamin P Has Effect in Diseases

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Vitamin P appears promising in treating some miseries of the common cold, flu and acute tonsillitis, two doctors report in the American Journal of Digestive Diseases.

Vitamin P is obtained from the peel and pulp of citrus fruits such as lemons and oranges. It is known as bio-flavonoid.

Drs. Morton S. Biskind, of Westport, Conn., and William Coda Martin, of New York, said in the journal yesterday that colds, flu and tonsil infections in 61 patients were under control in 8 to 48 hours after they began taking tablets containing vitamin P and vitamin C. The doctors said the tablets brought less rapid benefits to three persons and failed to help a number of others.

VITAMIN P, the report said, seems to strengthen the walls of tiny blood vessels or capillaries, which are weakened by infection. The weakening allows easier spread of viruses or germs into body tissues.

The theory is that restoring the capillaries to normal strength would limit the spread and keep the germs more con-
